Sunday AM: I Need Thee Every Hour...Luke 11:5-13
Sunday PM: If You Care About Your Soul...I Corinthians 9:24-27

Welcome, Visitor!

We are so pleased to have you as our guest today. If you are a first-time visitor with us, please fill out a ‘visitor card’ that you will find on the back of the pew. You may put it in the collection plate or give it to one of the men at the auditorium doors as you exit. There are free tracts and literature on the wall in the foyer. We also have Bible correspondence courses you can sign up to receive by mail at no cost to you. Let us know if you would like to set up an in-home Bible study.

Thank you for attending. We hope to see you often!

Moses and Jesus: A Divine Parallel of Deliverance

The lives of Moses and Jesus reveal a remarkable pattern in God's eternal plan of redemption. Moses, the great deliverer and lawgiver of the Old Testament, served as a type or foreshadowing of Jesus Christ, who came as the perfect Deliverer and Mediator of the New Covenant. The parallels between them not only demonstrate the unity of Scripture but also emphasize the supremacy of Christ as the fulfillment of all that Moses began.

Moses was chosen by God to deliver Israel from Egyptian bondage (Exodus 3:10), just as Jesus was sent to deliver all humanity from the bondage of sin and death (Matthew 1:21; Romans 6:23). Pharaoh's decree to kill the Hebrew male children (Exodus 1:22) mirrors King Herod's command to destroy the infant boys in Bethlehem (Matthew 2:16). Both Moses and Jesus were preserved by divine providence to fulfill God's saving purpose. Moses led the Israelites through the Red Sea to freedom; Jesus leads believers through the waters of baptism into newness of life (Romans 6:3–4).

Both men served as mediators between God and His people. Moses stood before God on Mount Sinai, receiving the Law written on tablets of stone (Exodus 19–20). Jesus, on another mount, delivered the Sermon on the Mount, revealing the law of the kingdom written upon men's hearts (Matthew 5–7). Moses' covenant was sealed with the blood of animals (Exodus 24:8), but Jesus sealed the New Covenant with His own blood (Matthew 26:28; Hebrews 9:15). Moses interceded for the sins of Israel (Exodus 32:30–32), while Jesus continually intercedes for His people before the Father (Hebrews 7:25).

In prophecy, Moses himself pointed toward Christ: "The Lord your God will raise up for you a Prophet like me from your midst. Him you shall hear" (Deuteronomy 18:15). The apostle Peter confirmed that this prophecy was fulfilled in Jesus (Acts 3:22–23). Both Moses and Jesus were rejected by their own people (Acts 7:35; John 1:11), yet through their suffering, God brought deliverance. As Moses lifted up the bronze serpent in the wilderness to save Israel from death (Numbers 21:9), Jesus was lifted up on the cross to bring salvation to all who believe (John 3:14–15).

While the parallels are many, the contrast is also clear. Moses was a servant in God's house, but Jesus is the Son over that house (Hebrews 3:5–6). Moses gave the Law that revealed sin; Jesus gave grace and truth that remove sin (John 1:17). Moses led Israel to the borders of the Promised Land; Jesus leads His followers into the eternal Promised Land of heaven (Hebrews 4:8–9).

The connection between Moses and Jesus reminds us that God's plan for salvation has always pointed to Christ. The Old Covenant looked forward to Him; the New Covenant is built upon Him. As Moses was God's instrument of deliverance for Israel, Jesus is God's ultimate Deliverer for all mankind. Therefore, let us hear Him (Matthew 17:5), follow Him faithfully, and rejoice in the perfect redemption found in the Son of God.

God Bless -Todd
